WELCOME EDITION

TO YOU OUR WELCOME ADDITION ! ! !

COFFEE HOUSE GETS FACE LIFT

An all new Coffee House opens this fall. Formerly in the basement of Founder's Hall, the Coffee House has moved upstairs in Convocation Centre.

Manager Carolyn Jensen is hoping the change of location and decor appeals to students and staff. The menu has also been revised to reflect changing tastes. Mrs. Jensen invites new students and "old friends" to come by for a coffee and a good look around.

The Coffee House has come up in the world and hopes you will come to see it!

SU WANTS YOU!

Members of the SU executive will be on hand during registration to answer questions about SU programs and the upcoming elections. Details about nomination forms and position job descriptions may be picked up at that time. SU offices are located on the lower level of the Convocation Centre. Office hours will vary so check for signs.

At CLC the SU plays an ever growing role in student activities programming. They also appoint student representatives to faculty and administration committees which make recommendations on College policies. On behalf of the SU Gordon Robideau says "Welcome to CLC and I am looking forward to personally meeting all of you!".

Fall SU elections are slated for September 23. Executive positions were decided in campus wide elections last spring. Gordon Robideau from Peace River, Alberta, is this year's President of the SU. Vice-President is Wally Wrubleski from New Sarepta. Secretary Zoe Raemer hails from Bashaw and treasurer Murray Arnold is from Hobbema.

Each residence hall is entitled to elect one representative to students' council. This representative also served as president of the residence hall. Other positions to be filled this fall include hall vice-presidents, intramural reps (male and female), faith and life reps (male and female) and a social events coordinator. A campus-wide SU social events coordinator will also be chosen at fall election time.

NEW RESIDENCES JOIN HOUSING FAMILY

Additional campus housing is available this year thanks to the acquisition of two "new residences". Unlike CLC's traditional practice of building new residences when housing demands increased, these "new arrivals" are slightly used.

Bethany Sunset Home is the larger of the "new residences". More than 40 students will refer to this building as home before the year is up. Formerly a residence for senior citizens, Sunset Home will no doubt notice a change in pace and lifestyle from the "old" residents to the "new" ones. A name change is also in the works for the building. At a dedication service slated for early September it will officially be "out with the old and in with the new".

A new experience in residence living will be available this year to some women students thanks to CLC's acquisition of a residential home near campus. An older two-story frame house at the end of College Lane will be home for a handful of students. While the house will be considered a college residence, this living experience will be unique. During the dedication service in early September the house will be labeled with an appropriate Scandinavian descriptor.

These "new residences" are both a measure of CLC's continued growth in enrolment and its attempt to provide a variety of residential living experiences.

Hatless onlookers contemplated Founder's Hall more for many weeks before relocation actually began. Renovation work to the structure has not been completed thereby necessitating temporary relocation of some classrooms and offices.

Notes, appointments, recollections

This page is provided as a convenient spot for your notes and jottings, all in one place.

"A new beginning is just beginning, to take hold of our lives."

Silverwind

As all of us approach registration at CLC for 1983 we each face a new beginning. For some it will be their first experience of college life, dorm life, and the first roommate they've had. For others this may be old hat and yet even sophomores and juniors will have a fresh start in their studies and opportunity to make new friends. The college campus adds to our new beginning and returning students will notice many changes.

I hope each student had an enjoyable summer either spending time at home or working. For myself, the Lord provided me with steady employment and I enjoyed the time with my family. And yet as school starts I look forward to what can happen. A man once said, "Happy are those who dream dreams, and are willing to pay the price to see them come true."

As each of us enter college we have certain expectations of what goals we would like to attain. Most students would like to have good marks, good friends and good times. With a fresh start upon us there is potential for all to achieve this, but I challenge each of you as I have been challenged. "You get out of something what you put in to it." If you want good marks, then have disciplined study. If you want a friend, learn to be one. The things each of us will remember from our college life will be the times when we pushed ourselves, gave of ourselves, and let ourselves be used instead of using others. I encourage all to participate in a wide range of school activities. Get to know your college, get to know your fellow students and staff.

My door is open to all (just don't all come at the same time or at 3:00 a.m.) The SU executive looks forward to serving you.

Joyfully His: Gordon Robideau

COMING... EFFECTIVE STUDY SKILLS

Just as a carpenter relies on a variety of tools to become a craftsman, students rely on a number of well polished study skills to achieve academic success.

A series of evening seminars will be available in September to aid students in polishing or acquiring effective study skills. Participation is strictly voluntary.

Among the skills to be covered are SQ3R, note taking, preparing for exams, effective scheduling and writing papers.

Further details about times and locations will be posted on campus bulletin boards.

WHY HAPPENING?

Residential students have a decided edge in getting information about campus activities. "Off-campus student" does not mean "out-of-it student", but living off-campus means working harder to stay in touch with what is happening.

Most off-campus students discover the Coffee House is a good place to meet other off-campus students. The library also acts as a focal point for non-resident students.

There are a number of aids available to keep off-campus students informed. Bulletin boards across the campus are posted regularly with information about College events. In addition to the Events Calendar in this issue, a monthly update will be published. Through the intramural program off-campus students can be involved in a wide variety of recreational and social activities.

All fulltime off-campus students are members of the Students' Union. The S U works hard to provide programs of interest to all students. The Student Life Office also provides assistance to off-campus as well as on-campus students. Off-campus students are free to contact the S U or Student Life Office with questions or concerns.

LUTHER'S 500th

During this year Lutherans around the world are celebrating the 500th Anniversary of the Birth of Martin Luther.

At Camrose Lutheran College, we will be celebrating in Twelve ways for Twelve Days. Our celebration will take place starting Sunday October 30 and continues through Thursday Nov. 10. Activities include: A Luther Fair, convocations, music, plays, lectures, films and many more exciting activities. A complete schedule of specific events is available through the chaplain's office. We invite you to participate in this historical event.

DO CLOTHES MAKE THE MAN?

... OR THE WOMAN?

Some people live one day at a time. The CLC Students' Union is to have a day-at-a-time experience with a bit of fun thrown in. For as long as we can remember there have been "dress like a dummy" days at the beginning of the academic year. It seems to break the ice between students and serve as a conversation starter. So, again all students (and anyone else for that matter) are encouraged (this means expected!) to break as much ice as they can by dressing the following way on the following days:

Sept. 12, (Mon.) T shirt and shorts day
Sept. 13, (Tues.) Opposite day
Sept. 14, (Wed.) Hat day
Sept. 15, (Thur.) Inside out day
Sept. 16, (Fri.) Dress-up day

STAFFER SEARCH IS ON

THE DAG is again on the lookout for newspaper staffers. Working on this student newspaper is great for experienced and novice journalists. Our schedule consists of a publication per month during the College year.

All persons interested in anything from writing to layout to photography to editing are encouraged to contact THE DAG. You can see our display at registration or leave your name with the Student Life Office. We want you!!!

Lawns received one last trimming before opening day. Considerable landscape work occurred on campus during the summer. Hiking-skiing trails were improved, trees transplanted, grass sown, sod laid, to say nothing about pruning and clean ups. Due to construction delays, a number of temporary sidewalks will have to be used.

STUDENT SERVICES ARE CALLED STUDENT LIFE

If one were to draw a picture of Student Life it would come out looking like an umbrella covering diverse areas that unite in purpose to make your stay at Camrose Lutheran College an enjoyable and growing experience.

By the time you complete your course of study at CLC you will be very familiar with the services and programs coordinated through the Student Life Department. These include on-campus housing and the residence life program. On-campus student employment applications and information are also available. In addition the Student Life Office maintains a bulletin board in the Convocation Centre foyer for posting on-and off-campus employment opportunities for students.

At the beginning of the semester a number of evening seminars on "Effective Study Skills" will be presented. Students interested in improving their study skills are encouraged to come to the Student Life Office for assistance at any time. Counseling services and psychological assessments are also available and operate in cooperation with the faculty advisor program and the chaplaincy programs.

Students requiring information about campus parking, ID cards, health insurance coverage and health services will find help when contacting Student Life.

And finally, Student Life is a clearing house for information about all scheduled campus events. This is especially vital with the number of athletic, intramural, Students' Union and campus events which are available to you each year.

This article only tells you a little about what programs are available. Now it is up to you to use the services!!

CALENDAR NOTES

Things you may want to plan, things you may want to look into further, things you may want to realize . . . all these and more can be recorded on this page.
